PHOTO 143. Post-Hurricane Waves. Waves at Belmar on the northern New Jersey shore, four hours after Hurricane Gloria made landfall on 27 September 1985. Landfall was less than 50 miles away. This wave was probably generated 6 to 8 hours earlier on the right side of the hurricane when it was 100 to 200 miles south of Belmar. Spray from breaking waves blown offshore by strong
